PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Well the summer is over and the little ones will be back in school and everyone can get back to their fall routine. Our first meeting is September 11th 2008 and I know our new First Vice President has some great speakers set up.

Connie will be at Delco community college on Sept 7th at their big flea market and will have a table set up for the bird club, I will be there with Danny if you have time stop by and say HI.

Don't forget to bring something for the refreshment table, see you on the 11th.

Thomas J. Neill Jr.

MESSAGE FROM THE 1ST VICE PRESIDENT

Summer just flew by and now here we are getting ready for fall season. To start our next season we are having Valerie Gardner on our September Meeting— She is the head behind Rattlebox Nature Center- A program that was conceived and created to provide individuals of all ages and capabilities with hands-on experience by way of focused workshops and art projects.

October meeting will be our "Bring your Bird Night", this meeting will be our chance to show to all what funny antics, tricks and some other things that makes our birds so special to us. We will have our short individual program for your bird. Please let me know if you want your bird(s) to be in the program. That night is not only for what your birds can do but if you can tell us the story behind him/her that will be great information to all of us. It is now our chance to let everybody know about our birds.

Please have our hands (and your bird's wings) together for Tiki, a Moluccan Cockatoo owned by Bill Wasson. Tiki is our Bird of the Month (June). Congratulations to you both. I hope to see you all on September 11th.

Francis D. Hilario

MESSAGE FROM THE 2ND VICE PRESIDENT

Welcome back members. Hope your summer was safe and enjoyable.

Our summer fundraising efforts were once again a success with the flea markets we have done. A huge thank you to member rep Debbie Park and member Judy DeGeorge for all their help with these fundraising events and dedication to the membership drive table. I would not have been able to do these events by myself. Also, thank you to everyone who donated items to sell for the past year. Donations of new or "gently used" bird items are being accepted at the September 11th meeting. There are two more flea markets after September 7ths we will be doing; DCCC on September 21 and again on October 12.

I have been contemplating ideas of a fall Bake Sale and a Spring Plant Sale to raise monies. Let me know your ideas and thoughts of how we can bring more money into the club.

The regular raffle table and 50/50 will take place this month as usual. Purchase your tickets early before our speaker gets underway.

Remember, raffle table donations are always welcome. See you in September.

Connie Metz

MEMBER REP MESSAGE

Membership representative positions need filling. See a board member if interested.

Board Meeting Minutes June 26th 2008

Started: 7:30 pm

Attendance: In attendance: Tom, Connie, Chris, Francis, Debbie, Esther, Erika

Treasurer's Report: Will be discussed at the meeting.

President: The contact for the audit informed Tom that it may cost as little as $500 or as much as $2500. Member Rep. Erika suggested contacting the state non-profit support group and LaSalle Nonprofit to inquire about sources for audit such as our group with little funds. Erika will contact the LaSalle Nonprofit center and also ask the treasurer for the Friends group at the refuge to see who they have used in the past and what she recommends. A copy of the bank statement to be made available at club meetings.

Outreach: CHOP outreach went well, only a few members are owed parking money. The outreach team has two future outreaches scheduled. The JHNWR at Tinicum is having their annual Cradle of Birding Festival on September 20th. and the ABC Daycare have requested the team in August, date TBA.

Fundraising: Flea Markets are mostly over for the summer, there is a big one in early September that Connie will be requesting donations for. Connie will email before the market to request donations.

Membership: The club is seeking membership representatives, please see a board member if interested.

Ended 8:50 pm

Minutes submitted by Member Rep. Erika Scarborough as sub for Colleen.

TOP 10 COMMANDMENTS FOR BIRDS

1. My life is likely to last 10 years or more. Any separation from you will be painful for me.
2. Give me time to understand what you want of me.
3. Place your trust in me; it's crucial to my well being.
4. Don't get angry with me too long, don't lock me up for punishment, you have your work, your friends to entertain. I have only you.
5. Talk to me. Even if I don't understand your voice when it's speaking to me.
6. Be aware that how you treat me, I'll never forget it.
7. Remember, before you hit me, I have a beak that could rip you open or crush your hand, but I choose not to bite you.
8. Before you scold me for not being co-operative, lazy, ask yourself if something might be bothering me, not the right food, in cage too long, want to be with you or on your shoulder.
9. Take care of me when I'm old, you'll be old too.
10. Go with me on my last journey, never say, oh I can't bear to watch it, let it happen in my absence. Everything is easier if you are there with me. REMEMBER that I love you.

Researchers Identify Virus Linked to Proventricular Dilatation Disease Researchers call the PDD virus Avian Bornavirus

By The BirdChannel News Division

Posted: July 31, 2008, 3 p.m. EDT

Researchers at the University of California, San Francisco, say they have identified the virus linked to Proventricular Dilatation Disease \(PDD\), a fatal disease that causes nervous system disorders in both domesticated and wild birds in the psittacine, or parrot, family. PDD has been found in 50 different parrot species, as well as five other orders of birds, and is considered to be the greatest threat to captive breeding of birds in this family, according to UCSF.

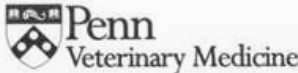

The researchers also developed a diagnostic test for the virus. The virus, which has been named Avian Bornavirus (ABV), is a member of the bornavirus family, whose other members cause encephalitis in horses and livestock.

“This discovery has potentially solved a mystery that has been plaguing the avian veterinary community since the 1970s,” said Joseph DeRisi, Ph.D., who led the team with Don Ganem, MD, both professors and Howard Hughes Medical Investigators at UCSF. “These results clearly reveal the existence of an avian reservoir of remarkably diverse bornaviruses that are dramatically different from anything seen in other animals.”

Drs. DeRisi and Ganem said that the discovery of the ABV virus could have profound consequences on both domesticated parrot species and in the conservation of endangered species.

It had been theorized that a viral pathogen was the source of the disease, but until now, no one had been able to identify it. “This provides a very compelling lead in the long-standing search for a viral cause of PDD,” Ganem said. “With the development of molecular clones and diagnostic tests for ABV, we can now begin to explore both the epidemiology of the virus and how it is linked to the disease state.”

The study, which will be published in Virology Journal, is also co-authored by Amy Kistler, Ph.D., from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute and the Department of Biochemistry, Microbiology and Medicine at UCSF; Susan Clubb, DVM, from the Rainforest Clinic for Birds and Exotics in Loxahatchee, Fla.; and Ady Gancz, from The Exotic Clinic, Herzlyia, Israel; among others.

PARROT OF THE MONTH

Watch for a different bird each month from A to Z

Hawk-headed Parrot 	Genus: Deroptylus Size: 35 cm (13.6 in) Species: accipitrinus Adult Weight: 190-277g (6.6-9.7 oz) Races including nominate: two: D.a. accipitrinus, D.a. fuscifrons Colorization Adult: D.a. accipitrinus: both adults forehead and crown soft white; dark brown lores; feathers of occiput and sides of head brown, streaked with soft white; long feathers of hind neck dark red, edged with blue; upperparts and lower underparts green; breast and abdomen dark red, strongly scalloped with blue; tail green with hidden maroon at base. Bill grey/black. Eye ring grey, eye yellow. D.a. fuscifrons: both adults forehead and crown dusty brown, faintly streaked soft white; maroon at base of tail absent. Colorization Juvenile: Forehead cream/buff; crown brown, streaked cream/buff; area towards hind crown washed with green; scalloping on breast green/blue. Bill paler grey with horn colored spots at base and cutting edge. Eye ring grey/white, eye grey.
--	--

The Hawk-headed parrot is also known as the Red-fan Parrot, or Hawk-headed Caique. They are found in lowland rainforests, preferring terra firme formations, like foothill terrains. Feeds on leaves and buds of Bombacopsis, unripe fruits and takes Inga and guava in cultivated areas.

The D.a. accipitrinus range is north of Amazon River from Amapa, NE Brazil and Guianas to E Venezuela, in NE Bolivar and probably SW Amazonas, SE Colombia, in E Vichada and south of Rio Guaviare in Guainia and Vaupes, SE Ecuador, in S Pastaza and northern Morona-Santiago, and NE Peru, along Rio Pastaza in Loreto. The D.a. fuscifrons ranges south of Amazon River, in N Brazil from northwestern Maranhao west to upper Rio Madeira and tributaries, and south to upper reaches of Rios Tapajos and Xingu, N Mato Grosso and possibly N Bolivia.

Its call is that of chacking sounds, high-pitched squealing noises. Variety of chattering and whistling notes at rest. Courtship bugling and musical whistles. Some calls resemble those of the Black-headed Caique. In fear, aggression or playful behavior the Hawk-headed Parrot will raise the feathers on its nape to form a fearsome looking fan, to make it appear bigger.

There is some regional decline (south of Amazon River) due to widespread deforestation; threatened by wild-bird trade, which often results in high mortality.

The Hawk-headed parrot is energetic, clownish and very affectionate. They may learn to talk and are fairly common in captivity with a life expectancy of thirty years. Their clutch size is two to four with an incubation period of twenty five to twenty six days. They fledge in nine weeks.

For enrichment they need toys to wrestle with and hang upside down with, ladders, swings, puzzle toys, bird-safe wood and leather chew toys.

Joke of the Month

Q: When does a teacher carry birdseed?
A: When there is a parrot-teacher conference!

Q: Which bird is always out of breath?
A: A puffin!

Q: What do you call a woodpecker with no beak?
A: A head banger!
